“Always thinks through everything from a reasonable market perspective of what’s fair.” —Chambers USA 2018-2019

Pillsbury Corporate partner Matt Swartz advises middle-market and technology companies, and their investors, on M&As, venture capital and private equity transactions, and public securities offerings.

Matt represents clients in capital and “exit” events, including mergers, acquisitions, and private equity and venture capital investments. Matt also represents clients in public offerings and securities transactions. He regularly advises companies in the software, government contracting, technology services, medical devices, biotechnology, consumer products, and health care sectors. Matt’s clients also include investment funds, family offices, debt issuers, and bulge bracket, mid-tier and regional underwriters and placement agents. His practice encompasses clients and transactions around the world. Chambers & Partners notes that Matt is highly regarded by clients, who value his “encyclopedic knowledge” of business law and ability to “see around corners and think about the implications of each and every move in a negotiation.”
